8. Number of Participants (with proof): 154 participants (Attached Excel sheet)
9. Report on the programme:

The event witnessed participation of around 128 students aspirant. Professor S Das, Associate Professor, IIT Kharagpur inaugurated and addressed that Institute is striving for developing innovation skills and zeal among the students to have their own start-ups. He also emphasized that Entrepreneurship Cell have been established with a vision to explore the inherent capabilities of young students for Innovative solutions of existing problems of the society. The goal of the institute for current year is to establish itself as hub of start-ups. Prof. Das congratulated the co-ordinators of the event for their fruitful efforts to encourage the juveniles towards entrepreneurship skills. He also mentioned that it is not necessary that one should have sound financial background to begin with a start-up and convert into a successful entrepreneur. Prof Das mentioned that 95% of the start-ups end up in the beginning until and unless one is determined to get through and one should be ready to bear loss in first couple of years. At the end, Dr. Rupak Bhattacharya, gave a formal vote of thanks.

10. Programme Outcome:

The Workshop of Entrepreneurship Development provides with knowledge and skills on how to successfully develop products and services to solve challenging problems, often under considerable time constraints with very limited resources. It can be applied in the context of both new ventures as well as in established companies.
